Maine Composite Income Tax Return Filing Instructions

Are nonresident individuals who are owners of a partnership/S corporation subject to Maine income tax?

Yes, if the partnership/S corporation operates in Maine. A nonresident individual is subject to Maine income tax based on Maine-source income. All income derived from or effectively connected with the carrying on of a trade or business within Maine is Maine-source income and that income is subject to Maine tax if the business is either domiciled in Maine or has nexus with Maine. An entity has nexus with Maine if, for example, it, directly or through agents, maintains an office or other place of business, executes a contract, exercises or enforces contract rights, buys or sells property or employs labor in Maine. See generally MRS Rule 808 (Corporate Income Tax Nexus). Nonresident individual owners of a partnership or S corporation do not have to be physically present in Maine to be subject to Maine tax.

Owners of partnerships/S corporations who are not Maine residents are subject to Maine income tax on that portion of their distributive share of partnership/S corporation income apportionable to Maine, based on sales of the partnership/S corporation. The minimum taxability threshold under 36 MRSA § 5142(8-B) does not apply to the Maine income earned by the partnership/S corporation or to the distributive share of that income to nonresident partners/shareholders. Partners/shareholders who are Maine residents are liable for Maine income tax on their entire distributive share of partnership/S corporation income.

Who may file a composite return?

A partnership/S corporation may elect to report and pay Maine income taxes on behalf of participating eligible persons on a composite (block-filing) basis. This method relieves participating eligible persons of the obligation to each file Maine income tax returns based solely on the entity income of the partnership/S corporation, but does not relieve the participating eligible persons of the responsibility for accurate and timely reporting and payment of taxes.

Who may be included in a composite return?

A partnership/S corporation may file a composite return on behalf of its partners or shareholders who are eligible persons and who elect to participate in the composite filing. An "eligible person" is a nonresident individual for the entire taxable year who has no Maine-source income other than entity income. Resident partners/shareholders may not participate in a composite filing. Also, an individual may not participate in a composite filing if he or she files married joint for federal income tax purposes and the individual's spouse has Maine-source income unrelated to the entity. A nonresident Electing Small Business Trust (ESBT) or grantor trust may also be an eligible person if the trust has no Maine-source income other than entity income. Pass-through entities doing business in Maine may want to file a composite return on behalf of nonresident partners/shareholders in order to be exempt from the pass-through entity income tax withholding requirements for nonresident owners. See information below on the pass-through entity withholding requirement.

Does a pass-through entity filing a composite return have to withhold or pay estimated tax?

Pass-through entities doing business in Maine are generally required to withhold income taxes from nonresident owners' distributable income. The withholding is based on each nonresident member's share of Maine-source income and the amount withheld is based on the highest appropriate tax rate (8.5% for individuals, trusts, estates and other pass-through entities, 8.93% for corporations). A pass-through entity may qualify for a conditional exemption of the withholding requirement for participating members under the composite filing exemption. In order to qualify for this exemption, the entity must:

- Collect a Nonresident Member Affidavit and Agreement to Participate in a Composite Filing of Maine Income Tax (Form 941CF-ME) from each nonresident eligible person who wants to participate in the group filing. This statement must be obtained prior to the withholding due date otherwise applicable to the member.
- Make estimated payments (Form 1040ES-ME) on behalf of the composite filing group as long as the aggregate Maine income tax liability is greater than $1,000. All participants in the composite return are grouped together and treated as one filer for estimated tax purposes. If the tax liability of the composite group is anticipated to exceed $1,000, the entity must make four equal estimate payments in order to avoid the penalty for the understatement of estimated tax; and
- File a composite return.

If the entity will be filing a composite return on behalf of some or all of its nonresident members, it should make estimated tax payments as described above and file form 941E-ME annually to obtain an exemption from the pass-through entity withholding requirements with respect to the members included in the composite filing. The entity may claim a withholding credit for the amount withheld from nonresident members included in the composite group, but only if the member's copy of Form 1099ME is attached to the composite return.
