STATEMENT BY FIRM Since 1986, Reed & Co. Architecture has provided architectural services in Maine for a variety of building types. We understand and appreciate the rich nature of the Maine's historical structures. It is always an exciting challenge to cherish and preserve our cultural inheritance while incorporating modern building technology. We have associations with the best engineers and consultants in the state which date back in many cases to 30 years of working together as a project team. By hand selecting these consultants for each particular project we bring fresh ideas, current technology and inspiration to each project. Budget, quality of workmanship, durability, and environmental sustainability are important considerations in all of our design solutions. Whether we are designing a new LEED Silver Certified Operations Center in Saco for the Saco Biddeford Savings Institution or renovating and adding on to the historic Rangeley Public Library, Reed & Co. Architecture manages our projects thoughtfully and thoroughly with respect to all design considerations.
