1. Approach

a. Describe specific activities and accomplishments...

For the 2012-2013 funding year, ME FPOSP concentrated its efforts on training individuals in more remote and underserved areas of the state, e.g. Aroostook and Washington counties. We continued to reach out to school groups and provided resources and training to educators when requested. We made efforts to promote National Invasive Species Awareness Week by scheduling outreach events and trainings that week, as well as wrote a press release. Details of accomplishments below...

i. Tie in to National Invasive Species Awareness Week (NISAW; March 3-8, 2013)

- Wrote a press release (attachment 1) that was also made available on the Maine Invasive Species Network \(MISN\) website.
- Provided a TTT training in Presque Isle during that week.
- Provided FPOSP tabling at the 14th Annual Maine Milfoil Summit, and the Portland Flower Show.
- Gave presentations on invasive forest pests at the MELNA workshop, the Arborists Association annual meeting, a state park's education day, etc.
- Promoted the newly finished mini-documentary we produced with the previous year's grant "Foes of the Forests: Maine's Trees at Risk from Invasive Insects".

ii. Conduct TTT sessions

- We conducted four TTT sessions, three of which were in remote areas of the state – Aroostook and Washington counties. One hundred people were trained. Details in table below.

iii. Reach out to Educators and active community members

- Last year's TTT sessions yielded some active young educators who developed their own presentations and provided outreach to K-6 school groups and classrooms. FPOSP provided technical assistance, outreach materials, and incentive items to the volunteers.
- Gave talks to retirement communities, Lion's club, forestry students, etc.
- Provided outreach materials and support to a volunteer involved in promoting invasive forest pest outreach at four Agricultural Fairs (Windsor, Litchfield, Pittsfield, Farmington).
- Created a new t-shirt for current and future trained volunteers (attachment 2; internal bidding process created delays, which was the reason for the agreement extension).

iv. Tabling at various events

- Conservation fairs, agricultural fairs, trades shows, etc.

v. Mass media and social media outreach

- Provided dvd copies of our mini-documentary (Foes of the Forests) to seven local access cable t.v. stations. At least four of the stations aired the documentary numerous times over the summer.
- Maintain the Maine Bug Watch facebook page, which links to the Maine Bug Watch twitter page – 192 posts were made during the reporting period, with "The number of impressions of your Page post" = 35,173. Currently have 288 "friends".
- Volunteer network promotes invasive forest pest info on their webpages and facebook pages (e.g. Saco River Recreational Council).

b. Data to be collected and maintained (and reported!)

- For Train the Trainer sessions include list of the dates, locations, organizations (if applicable) and the number of people trained.

Date	Location	Organization 1	Organization 2	Organization 3	Organization 4	# trained
3/8/2013	Presque Isle, Aroostook Co.	ME Dept. of Ag, Cons., & For.	University of Maine, PI	Soil&Water Cons. Dist. (var.)		33
4/26/2013	Fort Kent, Aroostook Co.	ME Dept. of Ag, Cons., & For.	University of Maine, FK			20
5/22/2013	Calais, Washington, Co.	ME Dept. of Ag, Cons., & For.	Moosehorn Wildlife Refuge			21
6/27/2013	Westbrook, Cumberland, Co.	ME Dept. of Ag, Cons., & For.	Sunset Ridge Golf Links			26

- A list of outreach activities, who staffed or otherwise ran each event (i.e., cooperator staff, trained volunteers, contracted staff, etc) and a realistic number of targeted participants for each event. These should be maintained for all the outreach activities. (attachment 3)
- Describe progress you made in developing and using an electronic list of citizen volunteers.

A database of all trained volunteers from 2009 to the present was created in 2009 and is updated frequently. Also included are names and contacts of people that have expressed interest in receiving information and updates. Currently, there are 180 names on the list. The FPOSP volunteer coordinator, Lorraine Taft, sends bimonthly emails of program updates, upcoming events, solicitation of feedback, words of encouragement, etc. to all the contacts in the database.

2. Quantitative Reporting

Number of volunteers added to program each month: (Start with your number from last year and fill in for each month)

National Invasive Species Awareness Week – Maine Events

National Invasive Species Awareness Week for 2013 will be March 3-8

- Download info sheet \(PDF\) with some of the national highlights planned for 2013
- Let us know events that you are planning for this year and we will post them here (email caleb.slemmons@maine.edu)

National Invasive Species Awareness Week (NISAW), now in its fourth year, is an awareness week that will be marked by national, state and local events, including a major conference in Washington D.C., a public meeting by the National Invasive Species Council, Capitol Hill briefings on aquatic invasive species, and updates by federal agencies on important invasive species issues and initiatives. While the State of Maine is not recognizing the week formally, a number of activities related to invasive species and available to the public are taking place during the week. Here are 8 events and activities to observe NISAW in Maine:

1. The 14th Annual Maine Milfoil Summit will be held on Friday, March 1, at the Lewiston-Auburn campus of the University of Southern Maine, from 8:30 a.m. to noon. The summit is free and open to the public. To register, please email lakes@leamaine.org and give your name and lake/organization affiliation. Please register early, since the meeting room can only hold 200 people. <http://mainelakes.org>
2. Maine Landscape and Nursery Association Certification Workshop, March 4, Portland; Department staff will be presenting on browntail moth, winter moth, and other tree pest problems.
3. “Foes of the Forests: Maine’s Trees at Risk from Invasive Insects” is a new documentary highlighting the threats from invasive forest pests on the state’s forest related industries and natural resources. Featured insects are the emerald ash borer, hemlock woolly adelgid, and Asian longhorned beetle. It is available at <http://www.youtube.com>

4. Portland Flower Show, March 6-10, Portland Company Complex; the Department and its volunteers trained through the Invasive Forest Insect Volunteer Training Program, will be participating with the Children's Discovery Garden, teaching about invasive forest pests. <http://portlandcompany.com/flower/>
5. Maine Conservation Corps Trail Training program, March 8, Wolfe's Neck Woods State Park; Maine Conservation Corps and Bureau of Parks and Lands; tree I.D. and Invasive Insects education day.
6. Invasive Forest Insect Outreach Volunteer Training; Friday, March 8, 12:00 – 4:30 PM, University of Maine-Presque Isle; Department staff will train people to recognize, report and to spread awareness about the Asian longhorned beetle (ALB), the emerald ash borer (EAB), brown spruce longhorned beetle (BSLB) and hemlock woolly adelgid (HWA).
7. Maine Arborists Association annual meeting; March 8, Portland; Department staff will be presenting on winter moth: a new invasive forest insect in Maine.
8. Winter Moth Training Session, March 11, 1:00-3:00 PM, Maine Forest Service Bolton Hill Facility; a training session about winter moth for people who provide information to the public about trees or who manage public land
