Dear Cynthia Bertocci,

Please deliver these comments to the BEP.

Dear Chairman Parker and members of the Board of Environmental Protection:

I urge you to reject the latest version of DEP's weak mining rules. I am very concerned that these weak rules would allow mining corporations to pollute our water and harm our woods and wildlife for centuries. They also would not protect taxpayers from having to pay for the cleanup of mining disasters.

Maine's environment and economy are inextricably linked. Maine's rich outdoor heritage and natural scenic beauty are at the heart of our tourism industry, a critical part of our economy. Thousands of Maine people need our state's healthy environment to make their living and provide for their families. Guides, commercial fishermen, and sporting camp owners all depend on Maine's clean water and abundant fish and wildlife. Mining pollution would be a grave threat to these resources.

Beyond commercial interests, we must preserve Maine from those who employ extraction methods. Our beautiful state has often been the battleground for outside interests who only seek to gain revenue at any cost. As the world's resources are depleted, Maine becomes more and more attractive because generations of Mainers have fought to keep it from predation. Now more than ever we must stand firm to preserve our natural resources for Mainers now, and in the future.

None of the areas in the entire world used for extraction are ever the same again. The impact of extraction is destructive and irreversible, the economic benefits temporary and unsustainable.

Please follow the lead of both the 126th and 127th Legislatures, and reject these rules.

Sincerely,

Kat Taylor
