Dear Maine Department of Environmental Protection,

Dear DEP--

re: Powerline Corridor---

I'm opposed. Why if New Hampshire rejected it's good enough for Maine? Bird populations in New England, bat and bug populations declining and we're going to disrupt and weakened their habitat? There's no guarantee the project with help in fight in global warming.

I know someone building a 30,000 square foot house with 14 bathrooms in Massachusetts --- why sacrifice the land for that kind of consumption? And you can call it CMP all you want----this is multi-national corporation in Spain.

The loss to scenic and recreational potential alone says no ----- a priceless treasure as endangered some species Do the right thing----vote no.

Sincerely,
Glenn Morazzini
